THE SENATE.

Later this afternoon a bill conferring upon Adjutant General Corbin the rank pay and allowances of a major general was passed by the Senate. When unanimous consent was asked by Mr. Sewall (Rep. N. J.) for consideration of the bill, Mr. Pettus (Dem. Ala.) objected. However, by a vote, the Senate decided to consider the bill. Mr. Pettus sharply criticized the measure and charged that Gen. Corbin had been rapidly promoted by reason of favoritism. This charge brought several senators to their feet, including Messrs. Hale, Brewster and the Hon. (Dem. Ala.) who testified to Gen. Corbin's distinguished ability and special fitness for the position he occupied. Sewall, Mr. Hale and Mr. Foraker paid high tributes to Gen. Corbin, warmly endorsing him for the splendid record he had made both on the field of battle and in the position he now holds. There (read names of senators)

SENATE REFERS HOUSE RESOLUTION FOR FINAL ADJOURNMENT TO COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS.

Washington, July 7. The day in the House was given to consideration of measures by unanimous consent. Few of importance were passed. After the resolutions providing for final adjournment tomorrow were agreed to there was a clamor characteristic of the closing day of the session, members in large numbers being almost constantly upon their feet, appealing for recognition and consideration of their local measures.

Following the passage of the resolutions there came a perfect storm of appeals to the speaker for recognition, members desiring to secure passage of their local bills. The speaker, Mr. Ray, refused to grant a resolution on letters written by the House, refunding $8000 dues paid by the North German steamship line upon a proposed shift brought in to equal a ship sailing within six months after entry into service, amounting to not creating a right of way through the Indian Territory to Gainesville, McAllister & St. Louis railroad.

Incidental to the consideration of a resolution Mr. Ray (Rep. N. Y.) occupied an hour with a general speech upon pension legislation.

He reviewed the pension legislation at the present session of Congress, pointing out that 180 private bills were passed in the first 100 days of the session, and 150 Congressmen passed only 200 bills.

Mr. Ray did not conclude his speech at the point of order being made from the Democrats that he was speaking of the bill under consideration.

When he concluded Mr. Berry (De. Ky.) spoke, and desired to begin a day's work about a resolution to properly recognize Commodore Schley.

"I make the point that the gentleman is not reading the bill," Mr. Ray quickly interrupted Mr. Berry, while the House applauded the commodore's name.

After a quick delay Mr. Berry secured the privilege to proceed in order.

"I will say," began Mr. Berry, "I will keep pretty close to the bill, but I do not expect to keep all morning."

SENATE IN DETAIL.

Delays and delays to the National Educational Association and the gathering of the Senate at the opening of the session today.

A bill making appropriations to pay pension employees of the House of Representatives and for other purposes was taken up by the following amendment:

To enable the secretary of war in his decision to cause to be transported to soldiers and sailors military camps and soldiers who died in military camps and who are killed in action, or who die in the field, of diseases arising out of the service of the United States, $200,000.

A bill was called up by Mr. Sewall of the military affairs committee and passed permitting the secretary of war in his discretion to have erected on the West Point reservation an office for religious worship.

Mr. Morgan announced that he proposed to try to get up a bill for the construction of the Nicaragua canal by the United States.

Mr. Tamm's bill sharply opposed the bill proposed by Mr. Morgan.

Another bill was introduced from the military committee to reimburse the governors of States and territories for expenses incurred by the present volunteer army.

A bill to restore Major J. W. Wham, formerly master in the United States army, to his rank and pay in the army, was passed.

A resolution authorizing the committee of finance to make an investigation of the affairs of the United States during the recess of Congress was agreed to.

Mr. Tamm's bill: Fixing the pay and allowances of chaplains of volunteer regiments, making them the same as those of regular regiments, permitting officers in the regular or volunteer army to hold positions as commissioners, supervisors or librarians of national archives.

Peace Overtures Expected.

Since the destruction of Corvera's fleet the army and navy have been taking a breathing spell. The situation is considered as most satisfactory by the officials in Washington. Lured the military capture of Santiago is so well advanced that it is doubtful if an attempt is made to storm the city as that would involve considerable loss of life and property. The President is anxious to avoid it, if possible. The dispatches received up to this hour indicate a prospect of a quick city by siege, the conditions in Santiago being so desperate that it is only a question of time before it is forced to surrender. It is reported that a number of Spanish officers have deserted and come over to the American lines, rather than undergo the hardships imposed upon them.

The Administration was naturally pleased with the action of the Senate in adopting the annexation resolution just as it came from the House so that it is immediately sent to the President and was signed Thursday. One glory will soon, doubtless, be the Hawaiian Islands. The news from Manila was also of an encouraging character, as a troops having been successful landed at Cavite. Then the appointment of the exchange of Lieutenant Holman who is now within the American lines was a source of great gratification to the President. In addition to this is the belief that the war is nearing an end and that Spain will soon sue for peace. While it is true that no official information to this effect has been received, it is a source of pleasure that the President has received a report of a strong foundation on which to base this belief. Now that the people of Spain have learned that they have practically lost everything so far in this war, with no hope of turning the tide in their favor there is an intense spirit of unrest that may result in the formation of a new government that will yield to the inevitable.

Legislative Caucus.

The legislative caucus will be held in general caucus at 10 o'clock, City Hall, at half past a ten o'clock. While the action of the committee is not yet known, it is expected that the committee will recommend the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. The committee is expected to report on the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, and it is expected that the committee will recommend the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands.

in by the representative Republicans of the city. Of this I have no doubt, but I am a candidate for re-nomination. Several names have been considered in the caucus, and the result of the caucus will be known in a few days. The committee is expected to report on the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, and it is expected that the committee will recommend the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands.

Porto Rico. The capture of Manila and the capture of Corvera's fleet have been a great success for the American navy. The capture of Manila was a great success for the American navy, and the capture of Corvera's fleet was a great success for the American navy. The capture of Manila was a great success for the American navy, and the capture of Corvera's fleet was a great success for the American navy.

The Rotation System. (Philadelphia Press.) The Congressional committee on the rotation system has been holding hearings on the subject. The committee is expected to report on the rotation system, and it is expected that the committee will recommend the rotation system.

This vicious practice obtains nowhere else so the extent it does in Pennsylvania. It is a vicious practice, and it is a vicious practice. It is a vicious practice, and it is a vicious practice. It is a vicious practice, and it is a vicious practice.

The rotation system has been a great success for the American navy. The rotation system has been a great success for the American navy, and the rotation system has been a great success for the American navy. The rotation system has been a great success for the American navy, and the rotation system has been a great success for the American navy.

It is impossible for the people who can not be moved by such a method of election. They are doing themselves and the State the greatest wrong in fact by not voting and demanding that nominations shall not be a matter of geography, but of fitness. In this matter Pennsylvania is a decided every other really intelligent State.

Our correspondent writes: About a year ago Harry Corvera struck a blow for his country, causing a blow which is not second to any other. He is a hero, and he is a hero. He is a hero, and he is a hero. He is a hero, and he is a hero.
